

ALAMEDA WARMING SHELTER

a project of Building Futures, the City of Alameda, & Christ Episcopal Church

What is the Alameda Warming Shelter?

The Alameda Warming Shelter is designed to be a warm, safe, and respectful place for homeless persons to get out of the cold and rainy weather. The shelter will be open on nights when the weather is forecast to be 40 degrees or colder or rain is predicted. Guests will be provided with dinner, a place to sleep, and breakfast. The shelter will be hosted at Christ Episcopal Church, and will be open the first week of December to the first week in April.

The shelter is operated by Building Futures, funded by Alameda County, hosted at Christ Episcopal Church. These services are supported by the City of Alameda, County Supervisor Wilma Chan's office and Alameda's caring faith communities, individuals and businesses.

We need your help!

The Alameda Warming Shelter depends upon the caring involvement of community members. Specifically, we are in need of dinner cook groups to "adopt" one night of the week between early December 2018 through April 2019. Shorter commitments are also available.

The warming shelter will be open when the weather is predicted to go under 40 degrees or a 50% chance of rain is predicted. Groups will be notified on Mondays what days the shelter will be open that week.

Dinners prepared at volunteer's own kitchen should serve an estimated 15-20 people. Dinners include an entrée, a salad, vegetable side dish, a starch like rice, bread or potatoes and dessert. Examples of easy one-dish meals include soup, stew, chili, pasta, or lasagna. Volunteers are invited to stay and serve the guests.

Please contact Dinner Cook Coordinator, Alisa Rasera at 510-381-5483 or frolikdance@gmail.com for questions, sign up your group or join a group!
